

Welcome to the Homex Investor Relations site. We are committed to facilitating a better understanding of our company and its operations by offering information in a consistent and well-ordered format. You are encouraged to bookmark this site and visit it regularly for the most up-to-date information on the Company.

In the following pages, you can find information first-hand about the Company and how, by building successful communities, we enrich the lives of many families in Mexico. We strive to maintain an open and continuous dialogue with our investors and analysts by articulating our strategies, business strengths and growth opportunities in order to enhance shareholder value. This site is designed to allow for quick and user-friendly navigation, with instant access to a wide range of information.

We will work diligently to keep our financial information as updated and straightforward as possible so that our website is a useful tool to not only familiarize yourself with the mission and operations of Homex, but also enable us to build a closer relationship with you.

Enjoy your visit and thank you for your interest in Homex.

Eustaquio de Nicolás
Chairman of the Board
Homex Development Corporation