Research Update:

Various Rating Actions Taken On Brazilian Corporate, Infrastructure Entities On Sovereign Action, Revised Mapping Table

Overview

- On Aug. 15, 2017, we affirmed the foreign and local currency ratings on Brazil at 'BB', removed them from CreditWatch with negative implications and assigned a negative outlook.
- We're taking the same action on global scale rating on Brazilian corporations and infrastructure entities.
- We're also raising the national scale ratings on entities in the same sectors following the revision of the Brazilian national scale mapping table.
- In addition, we're removing ratings on several entities from under criteria observation.

Rating Action

On Aug. 16, 2017, S&P Global Ratings said that it affirmed several global scale (GS) ratings on Brazilian corporations and their issuances following the affirmation of Brazil's sovereign ratings (see "Brazil Ratings Removed From CreditWatch And Affirmed At 'BB/B'; Outlook Is Negative On Ongoing Policy Challenges," Aug. 15, 2017), and removed them from CreditWatch negative where they had been placed on May 23, 2017. At the same time, we raised many national scale ratings (NS) according to our revised mapping table for Brazil, released on Aug. 14, 2017. We also removed all NS ratings on Brazilian corporate and infrastructure entities and issuances from under criteria observation (UCO), where we had placed them on August 14.

We also placed our GS ratings on Brazilian protein producer BRF S.A. on CreditWatch with negative implications. We expect to resolve it within the next 30 days.

Rationale

Global Scale Ratings

The affirmation of entities' global scale ratings, which are at the same level or above the sovereign, mirrors the same rating action we took on Brazil. This is based on our unchanged view on these companies' nature and rating interactions with those on Brazil, which means that the entities whose ratings were capped by Brazil's ratings, remain capped and those whose ratings were limited at a specific number of notches above the sovereign, remain limited at the same amount of notches. Please refer to the complete list of GS ratings at the end of this report. For the rationale on the cap at the sovereign level or the maximum rating differential to the sovereign, please refer to "Ratings On Several Brazilian Corporations Placed On CreditWatch Negative Following A Similar Action On The Sovereign," published May 23, 2017.

Although our conclusions on the gap among these entities' ratings and the ratings on Brazil have remained the same for some time, the number of notches a company could be rated above the sovereign is an ongoing assessment and could change in the future if an entity's business resilience proves to be stronger or weaker than expected. It could also change depending on the level of the sovereign rating, in order to reflect our holistic view of a company's creditworthiness.

At the same time, we placed our GS ratings on BRF on CreditWatch negative, reflecting its weaker-than-expected performance in the second quarter of this year, and the increased chances of one-notch downgrade. We will update our base-case assumptions and reach a rating decision within the next 30 days.

National Scale Ratings

Following our revised Brazilian NS mapping table, published on Aug. 14, 2017, we raised NS ratings on several entities and issuances by one or two notches. We also removed all corporate credit and issuance NS ratings from UCO. The mapping table applies to all entities and issuances rated on the Brazilian national scale. Such ratings carry the prefix 'br', as in 'brBBB'. As explained in our national scale framework, to determine a national scale credit rating, we use criteria that are identical to, or consistent with, our global rating scale criteria. We typically first determine our view of creditworthiness on the global scale and then use the applicable mapping table, which shows the relationship between global and national scales, to determine a national scale credit rating.

The rating changes are purely a result of the revision to the mapping table, with the intention of creating the most appropriate distinction among ratings on the national scale, and don't represent a change in our view of the credit quality of the issue or issuer. Please see the two lists of entities that had rating changes below and a complete list of ratings in the Ratings List, at the end of this report.

S&P Parties are not responsible for any errors or omissions (negligent or otherwise), regardless of the cause, for the results obtained from the use of the Content, or for the security or maintenance of any data input by the user. The Content is provided on an "as is" basis. S&P PARTIES DISCLAIM ANY AND ALL EXPRESS OR IMPLIED WARRANTIES, INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, ANY WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE OR USE, FREEDOM FROM BUGS, SOFTWARE ERRORS OR DEFECTS, THAT THE CONTENT'S FUNCTIONING WILL BE UNINTERRUPTED OR THAT THE CONTENT WILL OPERATE WITH ANY SOFTWARE OR HARDWARE CONFIGURATION. In no event shall S&P Parties be liable to any party for any direct, indirect, incidental, exemplary, compensatory, punitive, special or consequential damages, costs, expenses, legal fees, or losses (including, without limitation, lost income or lost profits and opportunity costs or losses caused by negligence) in connection with any use of the Content even if advised of the possibility of such damages.

Credit-related and other analyses, including ratings, and statements in the Content are statements of opinion as of the date they are expressed and not statements of fact. S&P's opinions, analyses and rating acknowledgment decisions (described below) are not recommendations to purchase, hold, or sell any securities or to make any investment decisions, and do not address the suitability of any security. S&P assumes no obligation to update the Content following publication in any form or format. The Content should not be relied on and is not a substitute for the skill, judgment and experience of the user, its management, employees, advisors and/or clients when making investment and other business decisions. S&P does not act as a fiduciary or an investment advisor except where registered as such. While S&P has obtained information from sources it believes to be reliable, S&P does not perform an audit and undertakes no duty of due diligence or independent verification of any information it receives.

To the extent that regulatory authorities allow a rating agency to acknowledge in one jurisdiction a rating issued in another jurisdiction for certain regulatory purposes, S&P reserves the right to assign, withdraw or suspend such acknowledgment at any time and in its sole discretion. S&P Parties disclaim any duty whatsoever arising out of the assignment, withdrawal or suspension of an acknowledgment as well as any liability for any damage alleged to have been suffered on account thereof.

S&P keeps certain activities of its business units separate from each other in order to preserve the independence and objectivity of their respective activities. As a result, certain business units of S&P may have information that is not available to other S&P business units. S&P has established policies and procedures to maintain the confidentiality of certain non-public information received in connection with each analytical process.

S&P may receive compensation for its ratings and certain analyses, normally from issuers or underwriters of securities or from obligors. S&P reserves the right to disseminate its opinions and analyses. S&P's public ratings and analyses are made available on its Web sites, www.standardandpoors.com (free of charge), and www.ratingsdirect.com and www.globalcreditportal.com (subscription), and may be distributed through other means, including via S&P publications and third-party redistributors.
